Swift-Moving Flood Waters Rise Rapidly

Waters of the swift-moving Athabasca river were in turbulent flood Saturday, with a rise of 15 to 20 feet reported at Fort McMurray and Waterways.

A dispatch to Edmonton from Fort McMurray early Saturday stated that after a spectacular rise early in the morning the level of the stream was holding steady.

Ice in the Athabasca started to move out during the night Friday. Lower flats at McMurray and Waterways will now be under flood, officials in Edmonton stated Saturday. It is not believed that any army and contractors equipment in warehouses along the river, will as yet be affected by the flood.

But another three feet of a rise would bring the water level to the danger point. Supplies and equipment for north war projects, valued at more than $1,000,000, are stored along the banks of the Athabasca and Clearwater rivers at McMurray and Waterways.

ICE PILES HIGH

Ice had piled up wearily Friday over a revetment dam at the site, a narrow neck of water about one mile long, connecting the two rivers, which is used for a seaplane base by C.P. Air Lines. It was not known definitely whether or not

At the same time the French to the south in the strategic Bou Arad and Poni Du Fahs area, with vigorous patrol action, continued to bear on the western flank of Marshal Rommel's battlefield, while the British 8th Army engaged outposts and patrols in frontal attacks.

Miners' Strike

At Drumheller

DRUMHELLER, April 17.—(CP)—Members of the strike committee representing all mines in the Drumheller valley voted solidly Friday night to continue the strike which Friday morning closed down 17 mines and threw 2,015 men out of work.

until the management of the Star mine reinstates Mike Bokos, a Hungarian miner, who was not re-employed following a labor dispute at the mine in February.

The committee made its decision despite the fact that officials of the United Mine Workers of America District 18 has declared the strike an illegal one and in face of the decision of one man arbitration board consisting of Mr. Justice T. M. Tweedie, of Calgary, who ruled Friday that the coal company was not bound to re-employ Bokos.

WILLING TO NEGOTIATE

"The strike will continue until Bokos has been reinstated. The miners are 100 per cent behind us in this fight. This is a clear case of discrimination and we intend to fight it to the last ditch," Tom Meekie, chairman of the strike committee stated Friday night.

"However," he said, "the strike committee was willing to negotiate the dispute with Star Coal Mine company officials or the coal operators as a group."

A special meeting of officials of sub-districts one and two of the United Mine Workers of America will be held at strike headquarters on Saturday and arrangements for a mass meeting of miners will be discussed. The mass meeting will be held some time next week, which would indicate that no immediate settlement of the dispute is anticipated.

Kiska Attacked

13 Times in Day

WASHINGTON, April 17.—(AP)—The furious aerial offensive against Japanese forces on Kiska Island hit another peak of intensity Thursday, the United States navy disclosed today, when bombers of the U.S. Aleutian command raided the island 13 times, causing numerous fires and explosions among enemy positions.

Heavy and medium bombers and fighters took part in the raids which followed two attacks on Kiska Wednesday.

There was still no indication that the Japanese have been able to put any serious defense against the attacks which they have been striving for many weeks to complete. Evidence that their anti-aircraft defenses remain strong, if they have not actually been increased recently, was found in the fact that an American heavy bomber was shot down by AA fire.

Italian Targets Heavily Bombed By Allied Planes

CABRIO, April 17.—(AP)—Heavy bombers of the Middle East command raided Naples again Thursday night, scoring hits on the quay, mole and buildings of the harbor, a British communiqué said today.

Tonnage of Bombs Dropped Believed Heaviest of War

By WILLIAM B. DICKINSON

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
LONDON, April 17.—More than 800 British and Canadian bombers rocked Mannheim and Pilsen, two of Germany's most important armament centres, last night with probably the greatest tonnage of bombs ever dropped in a single night. Fifty-five planes, including 10 Canadian, were lost in the twin raids.

The great weight of bombs—ranging from 8,000-pound super blockbusters to two-pound incendiaries—exceeded even the 1,500 tons dumped on Germany during each of last year's paralyzing 1,000 plane raids.

Squadrons of the Royal Canadian Air Force's bomber command participated in both raids with the R.A.F. planes. An R.C.A.F. communiqué disclosed that four Canadian Halifaxes were lost in the attack on Pilsen, and six Wellingtons in the attack on Mannheim.

Russians Hit Germany From East

While the Royal Air Force and Royal Canadian Air Force pounded Germany from the west, the Russian Air Force may have been bombarding the country from the east.

A German broadcast reported that northeastern Germany was raided for the fifth time in a week.

The air ministry said the British raids on Mannheim and Pilsen constituted the biggest night operation of the year.

"Preliminary reports indicate that both attacks were concentrated and successful," the communiqué said.

Giant Skoda Arms Plant Bombed

Striking into the heart of Germany, the main force, composed entirely of four-engined Halifax and Lancaster bombers, unloaded hundreds of tons of bombs on the sprawling Skoda works at Pilsen, one of the world's largest arms producers.

Leading one of the Canadian squadrons that battered the Skoda arms works at Pilsen was Wing Cmdr. Don "Tiny" Ferris of Edmonton, Alta., while another Edmonton flier, Sgt. Jimmy Allen, reported that he saw "one great big fire of red flame and black smoke."

Charge Priests Force Workers To Quit Unions

OTTAWA, April 17.—(CP)—Arthur D'Aoust, representing the national Brotherhood of Papermakers, said yesterday before the national war board that some priests of the Roman Catholic church were using their influence in Quebec to force workers to renounce membership in international unions and join Catholic syndicates.

At the labor board's hearing preliminary to a general inquiry into labor relations, Mr. D'Aoust, who is secretary-treasurer of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, also complained of the activities in labor matters of Maxime Raymond, member of parliament for Beauharnois-La Prairie and leader of the Bloc Du Nord.

URGES INVESTIGATION
He said Mr. Raymond's actions had contributed to the recent strikes, and he suggested the board should inquire particularly into Mr. Raymond's connection with the St. Lawrence area strike.

Mr. D'Aoust said employees of the Price Bros. Paper Mill in the Lake St. John district of Quebec were being intimidated into joining Catholic syndicates. In some cases men had been taken before a jury and told they would be excommunicated and denied the sacraments of the last rites if they did not renounce their membership in international unions and join the syndicates.

Mr. D'Aoust, himself a Roman Catholic, said he objected to the action of some clergy in using religious influence in sermons, to seek support for syndicates which would determine union representation were pending.

To Block Firms
From Easing Tax
By Subsidiaries
OTTAWA, April 17.—(CP)—Amendment to the Excess Profits Tax act to prevent companies easing their taxation by establishment of subsidiary companies was approved by the house of commons in committee last night.

If a parent company caused the incorporation of one subsidiary the "standard profits" were limited to $50,000. If more than one subsidiary were formed the total of standard profits still could not exceed $50,000.

The purpose was that if a firm did not employ more capital in establishing subsidiaries it should not get any new profits except the $50,000.

An exception was made for companies which had contracts negotiated by Munitions Ministry Home.

Supports Amendment

Isley Says Tax Evasion Has Ceased To Be 'Game'

OTTAWA, April 17.—(CP)—Evasion of taxation has ceased to be a "game" and has become a highly unpatriotic action when heavy taxes are applicable generally, Finance Minister Isley said in the House of Commons yesterday.

He was supporting an amendment to the Income Tax Act providing for steps to prevent the reduction or avoidance of liability to tax.

Roy T. Graham (Lib., Swift Current) suggested that an independent body, apart from the treasury board, have authority to pass on decisions by the board as to the liability for taxation of those who had attempted evasion.

GRADY CONCERNED
Gordon Grady, Progressive Conservative house leader, said he was concerned over any step which gave an authority outside parliament the power to assess taxation.

The finance minister said large amounts sometimes were involved in the cases which would be decided by the treasury board.

The condition could not be permitted by which hundreds of thousands or even millions were moved out of the way of taxation. Income tax branch authorities could keep a close watch on surpluses and if they were being reduced for the purpose of evading taxation, their recommendations on steps to be taken to safeguard the federal tax revenue were passed on to the treasury board, which in effect a committee of parliament.

An amendment to the revenue act covering the taxation of members of the forces with an income of more than $1,000, the finance minister said the corresponding figure for the women's services would be $1,200.

In discussion of regulations covering taxation, Mr. Isley said he was inclined to agree the provision about taxation being impossible in a case where a soldier might die during his obligation. He agreed with Mr. Grady as to the danger of creating a precedent which might be used to open the door to evasion.

MUST FUNCTION JUSTLY
"But, whatever jealousy parliament may have of the rights of the individual, parliament must ensure that this economic system functions cleanly and justly and to the extent of the law," he continued.

"I have perhaps given the impression the practice of tax evasion is widespread. I do not know if they are or not, but it is known by a few individuals and passed from mouth to mouth, of which and which is not legal, are able to escape the clear spirit and intent of taxation laws."

A Letter from Home

Only four days later than the earliest break-up ever recorded in Edmonton, the North Saskatchewan river is starting to flow down stream on Saturday, April 10, official break-up time occurred some time between 8 p.m. and midnight after the river had risen 14 feet. Thousands of spectators watched the river ice go out. The above picture was taken Sunday from the north bank of the river just below the high level bridge and shows the heavy ice blocks floating down river just after the main flow had passed.

U.S. Red Cross Recreation Hut Is Opened to Receive Men of Allied Nations

Col. Thomas L. Mosley, officer commanding the Alaskan Air Wing of the United States Army Air Force, opened the American Red Cross recreation hut at 9928 Jasper Avenue, Friday night.

The recreation centre, which was open to the public all day Friday, now will be reserved for members of the armed forces of the United Nations only.

Urgent necessity of the establishment led to its opening to members of the armed forces last Wednesday, and since that time, the "snack bar" has proved a popular feature.

The "snack bar" is located in a corner of the basement game room, and from it, coffee, doughnuts and other light refreshments are served by volunteer workers at the service club. The food is provided by the American Red Cross.

The "snack bar" will be open every weekday from 1:30 to 5:30 p.m. and from 6:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. All food served at the "snack bar" is free of charge.

The recreation centre has a very large main lounge, containing Chesterfields and easy chairs in red and blue leather, writing desks, a piano, combination radio-gramophone, and numerous books. Walls of the lounge are decorated with the insignia of branches of American armed services.

In the basement, ping-pong and billiard facilities are provided. Guests at the opening included John Randolph, American consul general, and Mrs. Randolph; Lt. Col. E. Brown, M.M. E.D., area commander, and Mrs. Brown. They were introduced by Charles A. Johnson, field director of the American Red Cross, and H. Brock Smith, chairman of the recreation and hotel committee. War Service council for Western Alberta.

Among others attending were Col. L. E. Robinson, Lt. Col. Frank N. Neighbour, attached to the Alaskan Air Wing A.T.C., Major O. F. Roberts, Major R. F. Frame, Alaskan Air Wing Special Services officer, Major Theodore R. Clinkscale, commanding officer of Alaska Air base, Major J. G. Lamberton, Group Capt. L. M. Food is a "Weapon of War" and Increasing Quantities of it are Essential to Victory! Plant a Real Victory Garden . . . and help increase the supply of food for ourselves and our Allies.

New Book Tells Each Victory Gardening Step

"Victory Garden Manual" is the latest book on home vegetable gardening, just issued by the Ziff-Davis publishing company. Its author, James H. Burdett, director of the National Garden Bureau, began campaigning for war gardens in 1939, protesting that World War II would be a food shortage disaster, as it did in 1917. He urged that the country increase food production in every possible way so as not to be taken by surprise.

As a contributor of articles on home gardening to this newspaper, and hundreds of others throughout the country, Mr. Burdett did much to arouse public interest in war gardens, so that when the attack on Pearl Harbor sounded the signal, an army of civilians moved to the vacant lots of the country, and "without official fanfare" began the amazingly successful first war garden year.

"Victory Garden Manual" was reviewed by John T. Frederick, professor of literature and amateur gardener, in The Chicago Sun Book Week, as follows:

Among the many garden books that will help to make our Victory gardens successful, James H. Burdett's "Victory Garden Manual" is especially attractive and especially useful. It has the advantage of being clear and simple enough for first-time gardeners who need help at every step of his Victory garden project. Yet it is so understandable, has so many new, sensible, and is so well organized and complete, that the experienced gardener will find it extremely useful.

"Most of our gardeners would say that the Victory Garden Manual is the best thing that has happened to them since the war began. It is a book that will help them to plan their gardens, to plant them, to care for them, and to harvest them. It is a book that will help them to make the most of their gardens, and to make them a source of pride and pleasure."

The illustrations in "Victory Garden Manual" are especially helpful, both the drawings and the photographs.

As anyone wanting to know more about the Victory Garden Manual, or to see a copy of the book, should write to the National Garden Bureau, 1000 Broadway, New York 10, N.Y., or to the National Garden Bureau, 1000 Broadway, New York 10, N.Y., or to the National Garden Bureau, 1000 Broadway, New York 10, N.Y.

House Abandons Hope to Adjourn Before Wednesday

OTTAWA, April 17.—(CP)—The government abandoned hope of reaching the House on Wednesday, after a long session last evening and will continue sitting until next Wednesday, Defence Minister Balcan said in the House yesterday.

The collective had been in session since yesterday, but considerable business remained to be dealt with.

Col. Balcan said he did not know whether recess would be reached by 6 p.m. Wednesday, after the House to rise at that time, whether a Wednesday night sitting would be necessary.

Port Moresby National Monument, in Maryland, was visited by 15,822 persons during 1942.

Hints on the Growing of Roses

No plant rewards the grower with as much enjoyment and satisfaction for so little trouble as the rose. They are universal in their appeal and popularity.

Success with roses in this climate depends partly on the quality of the bushes, but more particularly upon the root-stock—that is, bushes budded on a root-stock or briar which is suitable for this climate. Pike's rose bushes have quality and are specially grown in a briar or root-stock which has been found the most suitable for this climate, and if you follow the undermentioned directions you will be absolutely assured of success.

Delivery of Roses—When you take delivery of the rose bushes place them in some sheltered place till the moss from the roots and at least 24 hours before planting.

Planting—Care must be taken to avoid deep planting. Dig the hole square, not round, and preferably larger at the bottom than the top. Cut off all broken or damaged roots. The roots should be spread out carefully and evenly spaced with the roots pointing in every direction—do not cram the roots in straight in a small hole, the future of the plant depends on the way the roots are placed. Do not put manure on the bare roots, but cover over and make the roots firm with an inch or two of soil by hand, fill up with a mixture of well-rotted manure and soil, or soil only; this should be tramped very firmly with the feet except the two top inches, which should be left fairly loose. When the planting is complete, the union of the stock, or perhaps to make it more clear, we might say, the junction of the root-stock and the branches should be about 1½ or 2 inches below the surface of the soil. It is also beneficial to draw a mound of light soil up over the

Win Wings

ST. HUBERT'S QUAS, April 17.—(CP)—Four French airmen received their wings at graduation exercises at No. 13 Service Flying Training School here yesterday. The graduates also included P. J. McKelvey of Edmonton.

Just, burning it completely to protect the branches from drying before growth begins. Allow this soil to remain until the bush takes root. This will be about two weeks after planting. After removal of the soil, shade from direct sun until buds begin to leaf out. When the bushes begin leafing out it is a good plan to make sure the soil is well packed around the roots as during growth they sometimes become loose.

Soil—The soil which best suits the rose is a deep loam of a gray nature. When this is not to be had the soil is light, add stiff loam in addition to manure. If heavy clay and sand or some gritty material. However, roses will thrive in most of our Alberta soils.

Victory Gardens For Capitol Staff

Practically all members of the Capitol theatre staff in Edmonton have taken advantage of free seeds, supplied by the Capitol theatre management. Even the usherettes who have never before done any gardening at all, are now arranging their Victory Gardens and may be seen busy in their garden lots, arranging vegetable beds and planting seeds. Certified potatoes have been supplied under this offer, the management, which will ensure a plentiful supply of everything for this and next year.

Manager Wilson has decided to award prizes for the best kept gardens and for the best vegetables grown, including a special prize for the best potatoes grown, etc., etc.

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY

U.S. Red Cross Armed Services Hut Is Opened

he and all other officers carried a verbal symphony of good will of two brothers nations in arms.

"The Red Cross is the symbol of courage and mercy in all parts of the world," said Col. Robinson. "I have seen some of the great work the Red Cross has done among conditions of hardship and suffering."

The colonel declared that the people of Edmonton, by their splendid co-operation, had made the first recreation centre possible a centre which would be open to servicemen of all Allied Nations. He said he hoped the men of the service would find the centre "a comfortable little shot" in drop in for the duration of the war in EXCITING SPEECH

One of the most electrifying speeches of the evening was made by Col. L. J. Robinson, commanding officer of U.S. 44th Infantry Division, No. 2400.

Col. Robinson said he had been in the wilds of Alaska for the past year and really didn't know how to behave in a civilized place.

I have seen at first hand the splendid work the Red Cross has been doing in the north," said Col. Robinson.

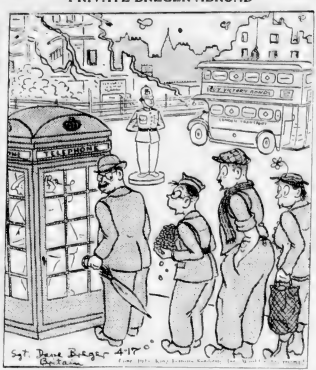

"The only recreation provided for the men up there has been that of the Red Cross. I have seen some of the boys on the highway suffer breakdown of their trucks at 70 below zero when it was not at all certain they would have fire and heat enough to reach shelter. They were cured for by the Red Cross who worked in the same terrible weather," Col. Robinson said.

I am proud to be an American but I don't think the word American is necessary to precede Red Cross. The Red Cross is international. I want to tell you Canadians that we appreciate your hospitality. We Americans thought at one time that we were just about the finest people in the world, but we have found out that Canadians are every bit as good as we thought we were, and the people of Edmonton have been wonderfully hospitable too," the colonel declared.

ONE WORTHWHILE RESULT

Continuing he said: "War is a terrible thing, but if this war does nothing more than cement the peoples of Canada and the United States more closely together, it will have brought about one worthwhile result," he concluded. Col. Robinson was accompanied by several officers of the 44th Infantry Division, No. 2400.

PRIVATE BREGER ABROAD

"Gee, I hope my folks are at home now!"

planned for several minutes at the conclusion of his address. Mr. Randolph said the opening ceremony had been 25 years when he attended the opening of the first U.S. C.A. unit establishment to be set up in Moscow, Russia. Since that time he had seen the Red Cross and other organizations of relief operate in many parts of the world and they were carrying on a great work of mercy that should receive all the support the public can render, the U.S. consul general said.

Mr. Clarke observed that her son, who is now flying a Spitfire in Britain was born in California, so that made her feel right at home in an American centre. She said she was greatly pleased with the Red Cross centre and the fact that it was open to all Allied servicemen impressed her deeply.

"We cannot do enough to help the boys who are willing to sacrifice their all that we may be safe," said Mrs. Clarke.

La G. H. Greenwood, D.S.C., appearing on behalf of the commanding officer of H.M.C.S. Nanaimo, the Edmonton Royal Canadian Naval establishment here, said the American Red Cross is making big all over the world today. The American Red Cross is even finding ways to get food and other needed supplies to the millions of enslaved people under the heel of Hitler in Nazi-dominated Europe.

"God bless the Red Cross," said Lt. Greenwood in conclusion.

BROWN EXTENDS THANKS

Armed Commander Lt. Col. E. Brown, M.C., D.D., of the Canadian Active Army, thanked the American Red Cross for its hospitality towards men of the other Allied nations and said the same hospitality was extended to men of the American forces at recreational centres maintained for Canadian soldiers in Edmonton. Lt. Col. Brown recalled the uphill struggle waged here early in the war to obtain recreational facilities for men in the services and congratulated the American Red Cross on a fine building and facilities.

Squadron Leader I. H. Walker, representing Group Captain R. M. Smith, commanding officer at No. 3 R.C.A.F. M.C. depot, briefly congratulated the American Red Cross on the centre and expressed his pleasure at being present.

United States officers, who made briefs included: Lt. Col. Frank N. Nightingale, acting commanding officer of the Alaskan Wing of the United States Army Air Force Transport Command, Maj. Theodore B. Chikaskas, commanding officer of the Edmonton Air Base U.S.A.F. Maj. Ora F. Roberts, commanding officer of 848th Signal Service Bn. U.S. Army, Maj. G. J. Lamberton, Capt. J. M. Mahan, Signal Service Bn., and Capt. J. M. Mills, Co. 231st U.S. Engineers.

Band of No. 3 M.C. depot under Lt. Brown.

the director of the Edmonton St. W. V. Post played several high-pitched, energetic and also impressive J. E. Nicholson, in leading the audience in the singing of God Save the King and America.

LETTER IS READ

At the close of the exercises, Lt. J. Nicholson read a letter from the director of military and naval service of the National Red Cross in Washington.

The letter expressed the regret of the director at being unable to attend the opening of the centre. Thanks of the director to all those in Edmonton who had cooperated so heartily in making the centre a reality was expressed. The following were mentioned specifically:

The public of Edmonton, the Hudson's Bay Co. store, the Eaton Co. Western Ltd. of Edmonton, the Municipal Chamber of the National Home Furnishers Ltd., Pilkington Glass Co., the American Women's Service Club of Edmonton, H. Brock Smith and the service centre for Northern Alberta, John McManis, Robert Muir and Mrs. G. B. Conquest.

Hundreds of Edmontonians visited the centre Friday and saw a comfortably furnished main lounge with easy chairs and writing desks and library shelves well stocked with books. In the basement are billiard tables and ping pong tables.

There is also a well stocked snack bar with free refreshments for servicemen and service women.

Three charming female assistants of Mr. Jacobus are: Miss Muriel Kite, Miss Betty Moore and Miss Norma Nichols of the American Red Cross Military war services.

HEADS COMMITTEE

Mrs. W. F. Vernon is head of the committee in charge of arrangements for the snack bar. She is assisted by Mrs. Marshall Randall, Mrs. George Macdonald, Mrs. J. S. Bell and Mrs. Thomas Henson.

The centre will be open from 9 a.m. to 11 p.m. each day to servicemen and servicewomen. It is planned to hold dances for servicemen each Saturday.

Boy Is Located

Gordon Webb, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Webb, 1400 St. Street, whose disappearance was held police authorities Wednesday, was reported as arriving at the farm of his uncle, at Telford, Alta. The boy, who left home Wednesday afternoon, addressed a note to his mother, saying he would arrive later.

Victory Loan Workers Poise For Big Drive

When the call comes to Canadians to invest in the Fourth Victory Loan the residents of District 24, Stony Plain and west to the British Columbia boundary will be found ready and willing to meet the quota set for their district. It is the American Red Cross headquarters here for district organizers.

This district is made up mainly of farming and mining and lumber workers, but their response in all previous loans has been extremely generous. The Lusear unit has contributed several thousands of dollars in the nation's war effort in payroll deductions from every worker in the unit.

The Stony Plain unit, extending from Wainwright to Edmonton and south of the Jasper highway to the Saskatchewan river and through Drayton Valley is under the chairmanship of T. J. Hardwick, with Murray Byers as unit organizer. In the Sangudo district, A. A. Knight, auctioneer, is the chairman and Norman McLeod, Greenough, the unit organizer.

IS ORGANIZER

The Edmonton unit, embracing territory from Edmonton west to Obed and the mines on the Coal branch is a Coal branch unit. The unit is under the chairmanship of Dr. B. W. Love, with Mrs. C. H. Patton, former M.L.A., for the Edmonton riding as unit organizer.

Dr. Thomas O'Hagen, M.C., chairman of the Jasper unit with E. L. Frickler, the unit organizer. T. A. Munger is in charge of the C.N.R. employees payroll campaign, and Max Garfield, motion picture organizer, has assumed the committee of the full co-operation of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of the town. Mrs. E. L. Broughton will lead the women's drive.

Chairman at Leduc is A. N. Scott, general manager of the Leduc Oil Company, and Andy Hasketh, the unit organizer. Secretary of the unit is Jimmy Macdonald, H.H. president of the U.W.A. (local), an active member of the committee.

At Edmonton Mike Stanger is the unit organizer with J. A. McLeod as the chairman of the committee. At Mountain Park D. S. Macdonald is the district chairman with Walter Talbot the unit organizer.

Take Care of What You Have!

It's Spring Cleaning Time And Here Are Helpful Hints on HOW TO CLEAN METALS AND SAVE UTENSILS!

Aluminum

Never leave food in aluminum any longer than necessary. Food, or food particles left in the pan, soaking the utensil for any length of time or boiling in alkaline solution, such as soda water in the pan, will cause the aluminum to become oxidized and turn dark. Aluminum can be brightened by boiling it in a weak acid solution such as cream of tartar or vinegar, or by soaking in lemon juice. Rinse thoroughly and dry thoroughly.

Brass

Generally, brass is used around the home for decorative purposes and such articles can be kept in condition by daily dusting with a soft cloth. Spots on brass should be rubbed with hot vinegar and salt, lemon juice and salt, hot butter milk, hot sour milk, lemon juice or rhubarb juice.

Bronze

Clean with weak soap and hot vinegar, or hot butter milk. Rinse thoroughly and dry thoroughly.

Chromium Plated

Newly used metal polishes or any kind of cleansing powder—chromium plate is a soft metal and wears off easily. It is best kept in condition by simply wiping with a damp cloth.

Copper

Keep copper absolutely clean if you use it for any food, otherwise it is dangerous. Follow recommendations for brass.

Iron

Wash in hot suds, water on hot suds and water. Always keep it thoroughly dry because a little moisture will cause it to rust. Remove rust with scouring powder, steel wool or ball of copper. If you want to store an iron pan or long, rust it with oil or fat, or wrap in paper and put in a dry place.

Nickel

Use a fine cleaning powder, such as whiting, lemon juice and water, won't clean it. Wash it frequently.

Stainless Steel

Clean off spots or burned on food with a gritty cleaning powder or steel wool. Otherwise, keep clean with hot soapy water rinsing and thoroughly drying.

Tin

Don't try to keep tin shiny. If you do you'll take off the very thin coating of tin and leave the metal underneath open to rust. Remove burnt foods by boiling soda and water in pan for less than five minutes.
